HOTEL CLARENDON

One of the most enjoyed events of the season for the guests of Hotel Clarendon was the marshmallow roast last Thursday evening. It was particularly enjoyable for the younger set, at the hotel and the originality and success of the event is due to the efforts of C. R. Smith of Milwaukee, who was the general of the jolly event. In preparation for the roast a spot was selected in the midst of the pinus-a jungle and the underbrush cleared away, leaving a bower of green over head. In the midst of this open space was built a large bonfire and this was surrounded by the merry-makers, toasting marshmallows, the whole presenting a fascinating Gypsy-like scene. When the members of the party arrived soft music was heard in the distance, and this proved to be from the Neapolitan players, who were secreted in the brush. Later they joined the party for the remainder of the evening and took the lead in the singing of college songs, telling stories and furnishing general amusement until 11 o'clock. Among those enjoying the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Will W. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Werstein, C. R. Smith, Miss Smith, Mr. Page, Miss Harbison, Miss Lummis, Miss Curtis, Miss Hays, Miss Cutler, Miss Kerwin, Miss Bayard, Miss Durson, Miss Brown and Miss Pease.

Included among late arrivals are: Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Kenney, Chicago; Miss R. T. Hays, Eau Claire; Mr. L. C. Carke, Belle Terre, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Sisson, N. Y.; Mrs. R. J. Brington, N. THE GREATEST EVENT OF THE SEASON.

*Grand Masquerade carnival on St. Patrick's night, Monday, March 18, 1912. This event has been reserved for this date as a grand finale to a very successful series of masquerade and fancy dress affairs and to give the skaters a chance to compete in and the public an opportunity to witness what promises to be a very enjoyable and well-entertainment. Prizes will be awarded for the most appropriate costumes. this-m

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

A RULE TO OBVIATE JADED APPETITE.

Works on feeding the sick advise that much variety in food be furnished and that it be prepared in a tempting manner. A vigorous person can eat the plainest food and any healthy growing lad would rather be allowed to make a meal of one or two simple articles of food, unlimited in quantity, than to be compelled to conform to "company manners" by eating genteelly of a variety of concocted dishes. The rule works both ways: If one will cultivate the capacity for being satisfied on one or two simple articles of food at a meal he will never be in condition to require tempting of a jaded, diseased appetite.

(Copyright, 1911, by Joseph B. Swick)

Colors in Granite.

A peculiar characteristic of the New England granite veins is the fact that three distinct colors of granite are to be found in as many states, pink in Massachusetts, gray in Connecticut, and green in Vermont. Green granite is something of a curiosity because of its rarity. The largest columns of this variety to be found anywhere are those which support the dome in the library of Columbia university.

Good Character.

The ideal man is one that possesses a good character in the full sense of the word. One that will not only be a good provider, but that will by acts of thoughtfulness appreciate the value of a good woman, and praise for her virtues and good qualities, and be her companion for life. Ambitious in his business, and one who finds joy in making others happy.

RECOGNIZED THE ACTION.

Little Nell—I didn't know that they played "I Spy" in church, mamma. Mamma—What do you mean, my child?

Little Nell—Why, the preacher said "Let's Play," and everybody held their hands up to their faces.

He Knew the Girl.
Son (trying to persuade his sire)—
—Don't you think, sir, I've money enough to get married on?
Father—Yes, but not enough to stay married on.

Smoking in the Dark.

According to experts in the tobacco business the prevailing impression that a man cannot enjoy a smoke in the dark is erroneous. It all depends on the cigar. According to the best authority, slight plays no part in the enjoyment of a smoke, and it is pointed out that blind men are most inveterate smokers. In fact, blind men are expert in telling a good cigar from a poor one, as their sense of smell is so well developed. A New York cigar dealer says that one of his best customers is a blind man and he can tell a good cigar from a bad one by his sense of smell, even when standing a yard or more from his counter.

Most smokers do not like to smoke in the dark. They say it is necessary to watch the smoke ascend and to see the rings curl in order to thoroughly enjoy it, but cigar dealers say the enjoyment is really in the taste and not in the odor, and the sense of taste needs no light to make smoking enjoyable.

About the Putterer.

The art of puttering consists of doing for yourself slowly and inefficiently what you can pay some one else to do for you quickly and well. It is hard work that you do not have to do, strenuous loading that invites the soul.

The putterer works in pure love, and if the produce prove a poor thing it is at least his own. To be a perfect putterer is to achieve a liberal education.

Puttering is a tonic relaxation from the mechanical efficiency of our professional selves, a corrective of the extreme specialization that otherwise would result in our becoming all foot or hand or head. The putterer makes laws and breaks laws and breaks the laws he makes. He produces startling variations from type. An inspired fool, he is a true creator.—From the Atlantic.

Brer Rabbit, the Hero.

The folklore tales of the south and of the West Indies are often similar, the only difference being in the hero of the plot. Brer Rabbit is the hero of southern folklore tales; Bo Anancy takes the leading part in the West Indian epic. Geographical dissimilarity of origin explains the difference: the rabbit stories are of Congolese or Bantu origin; Anancy stories are originated on the gold coast. The rabbit was the totem from which the hantus were supposed to be descended while the Tshi-speaking tribes, from whom West Indian negroes trace their descent, had the anancy, or spider, as their totem. In the Anancy stories wild animals have the gift of speech; they converse freely with men and live on easy social terms with them.—Samuel B. Jones, in the Southern Workman.

Unwelcome Wedding Guest.

The origin of a black cat that at intervals makes his appearance in St. Regis is somewhat of a mystery, but he always shows up, according to the entertainment department, when a wedding reception is going on, relates the New York Sun. His last appearance was at a reception the other day. The guests had all congratulated the bride and bridegroom and were sampling the buffet when from apparently nowhere in particular Master Tom appeared, apparently feeling very much at home and trying to fraternize with the invited guests. A horrified employee removed him, but Tom found his way back, and then again until he was conveyed to the street. Orders have been issued to bar Tom from the next reception, even should he bring a card with him.

STONES THAT ARE SOCIABLE

Traveling Pebbles of Nevada When Separated Move Rapidly Toward a Common Center.

"Traveling stones," from the size of a pea to six inches in diameter, are found in Nevada. When distributed on a floor or other level surface, within two or three feet of one another, they immediately begin to travel toward a common center, and there lie huddled like a clutch of eggs in a nest.

A single stone removed to a distance of three and a half feet, upon being released, at once started with wonderful and somewhat comical celerity to join its fellows.

These queer stones are found in a region that is comparatively level and little more than bare rock. Scattered over this barren region are little basins, from a few feet to a rod or two in diameter, and it is in the bottom of these that the rolling stones are found.

The cause for the strange conduct of these stones is doubtless to be found in the material of which they are composed, which appears to be lodestone or magnetic iron ore.—Harper's Weekly.

Great Premium Offer

THE circulation of The Gazette-News is already large but the publisher is determined to add several hundred more names to the list and in order to do so makes several offers that you cannot afford to miss.

We want to give every housewife in this country a new pair of SHEARS—not that we think you are out of shears at your home but we know that no matter how many pair of shears you have, you will appreciate a new pair, especially the Eureka Trimmer Shears, which is a superior shear in every way to the ordinary pair of shears generally used in the everyday household.

This is not a philanthropic movement on our part nor a plan to disburse charity, nor is it a scheme to force people to buying something they do not need. We have learned the value of the housewife's good will, and this will be considered by us in offering these

Eureka Bent Trimmer Shears

We have bought another gross for distribution and those who do not respond to our offer immediately may not be able to get a pair. If you want to secure a pair then you will be sure of receiving your shears. This is a very liberal offer and one that can be taken advantage of by everyone in this country, and we want readers to our paper. We believe this offer will more than satisfy the most exacting subscriber.

Send us $1.50, and six cents additional if you desire the shears mailed, and we will send you the GAZETTE-NEWS FOR ONE YEAR AND A PAIR OF THESE SHEARS ABSOLUTELY FREE. This offer applies to either new subscriptions or renewals

Watch Daytona Grow

Watch it through the columns of The Daytona-Gazette News. It is published every Saturday the year 'round. More improvements will be made in Daytona and vicinity during the coming summer than for several years past, and you will want, of course, to keep abreast with the progress of the community.

It gives you more local news than all other local papers of Volusia combined. Many of the little personals about persons with whom you are acquainted will also interest you.

The subscription price is but $1.50 a year, and we give you a useful pair of SHEARS as a premium if you subscribe before the supply is exhausted.

It will tell you of the improvements that are being made during the summer when you are at your northern abode.

HIGH COURT WILL DECIDE BIG QUESTION

PART OF STATE OF VIRGINIA
MAY BE GIVEN BACK TO U. S.

RESIDENTS OF ALEXANDRIA
COUNTY WOULD LIKE TO BE TURNED BACK TO DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—One of the greatest movements yet inaugurated within the District of Columbia that has an effect nationally is the recession of part of the state of Virginia to the federal government. A committee, styling itself the "committee of the original District of Columbia," and composed of a large number of prominent and influential men, has revived the project for the restoration of that part of Virginia which was originally included in the district, and which was receded to Virginia by congressional enactment in 1846. Hannia Taylor, one of the most prominent constitutional lawyers in the country, has been engaged by the committee to carry the case to the supreme court of the United States.

The recession act, by which congress restored the territory south of the Potomac river to Virginia without the formality of a constitutional amendment and without submitting the matter to a vote of the states, is to be attacked on the ground that the act was wholly unconstitutional; that congress exceeded its authority in an unwarranted manner; that the recession was a political move and a part of the slavery agitation which preceded the civil war; and that, the constitutionality of the act being in question, no statute of limitations runs in the premises.

Mr. Taylor will set forth in his petition to be presented to the supreme court that, if congress in receding to Virginia that part of the original District of Columbia lying on the Virginia side of the Potomac was within its constitutional rights, it would without question have the right to give back to the state of Maryland all the remainder of the District and even the city of Washington itself.

Practically every man of prominence residing in that part of Alexandria county that was formerly a part of the District of Columbia outside of the city of Alexandria has signed the petition and the committee itself is sanguine of the success of its efforts.

This controversy has been waged in and around Washington for the past two years and was the subject of many a debate in congress.

Charges were made that the project of many a debate in congress. The situation was the creation of a scheme engineered by a number of real estate brokers in Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia for the purpose of booming the property located on the other side of the river. When the matter was first broached, it resulted in increasing the value of lands in Virginia, particularly that part below the level of the river which falls within the old territorial limits of the district.

Necessarily the property on the Virginia side made a tremendous gain in prices. Real estate dealers sold marsh lands, water lands and every other kind of land at tremendous prices. Signs were posted over the vast tract calling the attention of passersby to the desirability of the location for investment. The whole tract has been disposed of to individual purchasers. Few if any houses are occupying sites. One or two factories that take care of the refuse from Washington have built plants on the other side of the river. Otherwise the property remains today about as it was during Civil war times.

The question, however, has simply developed into a proposition that the residents of Alexandria county, that hotbed of sedition during the Civil war, wish to throw of the sovereignty of Virginia to become a part of northern territory and only incidentally that real estate promoters wish to reap a long delayed harvest.

Members of congress are watching the progress of the case being interested in the constitutional question that is to be fought out before the supreme court.

Sensational developments are expected should the court rule that congress exceeded its authority in ceding this part of the District back to Virginia.

In the Garden of Eden.
"Did you know this was my birthday?" asked Eve.
"Could I forget it?" answered Adam.
"Let's see—how old are you, this year—now don't answer—let me guess. You are—ah—seven!"
"You hateful wretch!" cried Eve.
"I'm only five, and you know it."
"But that is just like you men—you try to pretend that the time is dragging and that your wives are growing old! Just because you are over six, and have lots of gray hairs, you think you can insult your wife!"
Eden was never the same after that.

CHARACTER DOLL IS LATEST

Each Type Is Made After the Portrait or Photograph of a Real Child.

Perhaps the most interesting feature about the jointed child dolls is the fact that each type is made after the portrait or photograph of a real child, and is often a copy of a living model. One traces the incentive to realism in doll manufacture to a lovely elderly lady in Munich. She is an artist, and one with a deep love for childhood. It seemed to her that when one considered all the passion of love which a doll inspires in the breast of its owner, that little girl ought to have a pet that looked more human than dolls have been wont to look. With this idea she developed, in plaster, dolls that were exact imitations of the various peasant folk who came to Munich from Bavarian and other provinces of a Sunday. The holiday attire of each native village was represented. These delightful little figures of peasant life attracted the attention of the Empress of Germany three years ago—at the time when they first appeared—and she made Christmas presents of them to children of the royal household. She was delighted with the human-looking manikins, and this fact did not take long to spread throughout the Empire and reach the ears of Americans. Now the artist in Munich has several artist assistants to aid her in developing new peasant faces and types, and factories eagerly await models from her studio to dress according to her designs.—Harper's Bazar.

TOWER OF ENEMIES' HEADS

Monument of Modern Barbarism
Erected by the Turks in 1809 at Nish, Servia.

A strange monument of modern barbarism still survives at Nish in southeast Servia. During the war of independence in 1809 the Serbian garrison here exploded a powder magazine and perished therein rather than fall into the hands of the Turks.

A battle had previously taken place and the Turks commemorated their victory by erecting a rude tower, ornamented with the heads of their enemies. Old people will tell you that there were over 1,200 heads, but as the tower was never more than 25 feet high, this is probably an exaggeration. Lamartine and other travelers relate that they saw hair still clinging to the skulls, which must have formed a gruesome spectacle. During many years visitors were in the habit of carrying off skulls as souvenirs, but when Nish became Serbian the remainder were taken away for decent burial, all save a few that were too deeply imbedded. Recently the remains of the tower have been covered over with a roof to protect them against the elements and they are regarded as a pious object of patriotic pilgrimage.—Wide World Magazine.

SOME NOVEL FRENCH CANES

Handles of Walking Sticks are Receptacles for Coins, Matches and Other Things.

The ingenuity of the Frenchman has not been confined to the making of weapons out of apparently harmless canes. In fact there is quite a variety of uses which the cane is made to serve.

One of the canes is fitted with a coin box and a match box, these being contained in the head, which is provided with a carefully concealed lid. The coin box is arranged to permit of depositing and easily removing the coin by a slight pressure of the thumb, thus obviating the necessity of fishing for coins in the pocket.

Another cane handle contains a complete outfit of the game known as Petits Chevaux. When the lid is open betting can begin and the horse crossing the wire first wins the stakes. One of the latest Parisian novelties consists in a ladies' parasol handle containing a roulette wheel which can be used for gambling at any place or moment.

These handles have become very popular. They are of fine workmanship and generally of gold or silver. One handle contains almost everything that one would be likely to need. A long sheet of paper is wound around the rod, from which pieces may be torn off for taking notes. When the lid is opened penknife, pencil, nail file, combs and looking glass are disclosed. These objects are small, but large enough for practical use.—Scientific American.

Good in Low-voiced Reply.

We have discovered in our home that if the table talk gets too noisy one of the family may bring the rest to order by speaking in a sudden whisper. Parents often sacrifice much to give their children dancing and music lessons, but the most lovely accomplishment of all, a soft and pleasant-voiced voice, is something they may themselves develop in the children. I find that a child reflects almost instantly the tone of voice of one who speaks to him. A very gentle and low-voiced reply to an excited or angry child reduces his next remark to half in volume. To answer the vexation of a little child in a whisper catches attention, often brings a laugh and is far better than to stamp the fretful tone deeper by mimicking it, as parents sometimes do. Example is better than precept. Parents who have themselves learned self-control, and that it is never necessary to raise one's voice in order to speak with dignity and authority, are teaching their children priceless lessons. That a soft answer turneth away wrath is a cardinal maxim for the household.—Good Housekeeping.

At a Disadvantage.

"I suppose you will miss your boy while he is at college."
"Yes," replied Farmer Cornblossom.
"I dunno what I will do without him. He got the live stock so they wouldn't move unless he give 'em the college yell, an' I can't remember it."

Accounted For.

"I heard you are a hard drinker."
"So would you be, if you get only hard water."

DON'T WAIT

to see what someone else is going to do—get hold of some of this land yourself—do it NOW, before it's too late for you know that

Average property in the line of advance of value is the greatest investment in the world. Fortunes have been made by some small ventures picked with discrimination.

We have the best investment land that can be bought at average prices now. But development must wait until this land builds in value within the next year and it is impossible to predict the increase in value within the next year.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

We have a tract of one hundred acres—mostly from 1910 to 1920—within one-half mile of Daytona Beach. We have a tract of forty-five acres—mostly from 1910 to 1920—within one-half mile of Daytona Beach. We have a tract of twenty-five acres—mostly from 1910 to 1920—within one-half mile of Daytona Beach.

Three Tracts Can Be Bought at Average Prices NOW but not for long.

We shall be glad to show these and to quote you prices of your business. We can also quote you a price on the whole tract, though that is not a price that can be quoted at this time. We also have several tracts of land that can be sold at a price below their actual value. Call and see all of this and the reason for this price will give you a big return.

AMERICANS ARE IN DANGER
MOBS THREATEN FOREIGNERS
AMBASSADOR WILSON IS INFORMED THAT LIVES OF FOREIGNERS ARE THREATENED BY MOBS IN TAMPICO.
MEXICO CITY, March 16—Ambassador Wilson was informed today that Americans in Tampico are in serious danger. Riots are taking place and the offices of the Tampico Navigation company is in the hands of a mob which is threatening the lives of all foreigners.

TEXTILE WORKERS REFUSE FIVE PER CENT. INCREASE.
FALL RIVER, Mass., March 16—The textile council today notified the cotton manufacturers that the offer of five per cent. increase in wages has been rejected and reiterated the demand for a 15 per cent. increase to take effect March 25.

STEAMER RAMS SCHOONER FIVE PERSONS DROWNED.
LAUREL, Del., March 16—Five persons were drowned when the Merchants & Miners liner Gloucester rammed and sunk the four-masted schooner Herbert Maxwell today. The Maxwell was bound from Baltimore for Wilmington, N. C., with a cargo of fertilizer. The Gloucester is badly damaged.

CELEBRATED EIGHTY-SIXTH BIRTHDAY LAST THURSDAY
James Selleck of Syracuse, N. Y., who is spending the season at the Walker hotel in company with his brother, Capt. Isaac Selleck and family of Norwalk, Conn., reached his 86th birthday Thursday, and an informal celebration of the event was held in the evening, with music, dancing, recreations, etc. Mr. Selleck, who is remarkably well preserved for his years, surprised the whole party with his agility, dancing a jig like a boy of 20. This is Mr. Selleck's first visit to Florida, but Capt. Selleck has spent other seasons in Daytona.

JUST GOSSIP BY THE GOSSIPER.

All residents of Florida, and particularly the people living in the vicinity of Daytona, the garden spot of the state, should not forget the approach of Foreclosed Day, May 1, and the purpose for which it is designated. Each and every person in this vicinity is expected to send postcards, circulars or descriptive matter concerning Daytona and vicinity to friends and acquaintances in other states, using this means of advertising "the prettiest winter resort in the world." Got your postcards and descriptive matter ready to mail at that time.

The sentiment in Daytona for a change in the city charter to abolish the salary paid to the mayor and create the office of municipal judge is growing and this change will likely be made in the near future. Under the present arrangement the mayor is compelled to serve as municipal judge, making a thankless job still more thankless, and few business men care to burden themselves with the opportunity to make enemies and invite trouble by serving as judge in the mayor's court. As an honorary position and advisor to the city council without the troubles of the municipal court the position of mayor would be more inviting to men who would give the city a good, business administration.

The Gossiper has just received a good suggestion from a tourist in the shape of a hint that one of the things needed in Daytona, particularly at this season of the year, is a room exchange, where some person in charge shall have and be able to give out information in regard to rooms for rent, accommodations at any and all hotels, where visitors may get such information without being compelled to hunt all over the city for desirable accommodations, and in many instances any kind of a place to sleep. Daytona has this season entertained more visitors than ever in the history of the city and for several weeks every hotel, rooming house and boarding house in the city has been filled to capacity and turning people away. This condition of affairs has been a bad advertisement for the city and community, and the majority of the people who come here do not care to run all around the city looking for a place to sleep. There are many private homes in the city which could accommodate a few people with private rooms, at least for a few days, the owners of which would be glad to do so rather than see strangers go away from Daytona with a bad impression and an inclination to tell uncomplimentary things about the city because they were unable to secure suitable accommodations. If there was a certain place in the city where information concerning all available accommodations could be sent each day and dispensed free of charge to inquiring strangers it would be a great accommodation to everybody concerned. The suggestion is one well worth consideration by the board of trade and hotel men's association.
